

Product Warranty for exterior applications

1. The LG Hausys's natural acrylic stone, HI-MACS[®], has been widely chosen for various interior design, projects and architectural work because of its unique properties and advantages. With increasing interest and demand from architects for new applications for exterior use, LG Hausys has run tests to evaluate the possibility of using HI-MACS[®] on the façade of a building.

2. The test focused to check possible colour change when using HI-MACS[®] in facade application. Although HI-MACS[®] has good resistance to UV rays in general, the level of colour change could differ per patterns according to the type and quantity of pigment and other ingredients contained in different patterns. HI-MACS[®] recommended colours for exterior applications are grouped into two performance categories.
